DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

2. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: in the brief description of the invention, page 3, line 31, the statement "Figures 1-7 are views similar to figures 1 to 3" is inconsistent.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Objections

3. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities: claim 1 uses the reference number 10 to indicate an opening and a neck. Appropriate correction is required.
4. Claim 10 is objected to because of the following informalities: in line 1 of the claim it appears the "i" should be --1--.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

5. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

Art Unit: 3754

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

5. Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for a dispensing member mounted on a container using a fixing member with a skirt, does not reasonably provide enablement for a body provided with a vent hole. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make or use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

7. Claims 1-5, 7, 9 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US 6,592,010 to Plessis.

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention “by another,” or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Plessis shows a fluid dispenser as seen in Figs. 1-3, having a fluid reservoir 1 with an cylindrical opening 10 formed by a neck having a top end 12 and the inside wall defining a narrow aperture segment 13 and a recessed segment 14, a dispensing member 2 provided with a body 201, a fixing member 3 with a skirt 32 and a sleeve 31, the body forms a cam segment 203 for deforming the skirt and the skirt having a sealing zone 321 coming in contact with recessed segment 13, see Fig. 3.

With respect to claims 2, 3, 4 and 7:

The body has a top collar 21, a large diameter segment 201, intermediate segment 202 situated above the cam segment and the below the large diameter segment, see Fig. 3.

With respect to claim 12:

The fixing member is provided with an abutment flange 33.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 6, 8, 10, 11 and 14 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Greene shows a self-locking and non-refillable closure for bottles. Snedker shows an anti-tampering device for bottles. Garcia shows a dispensing member having an outlet valve formed by a differential piston. Beranger shows a fluid dispenser device.
